Geography of the Soul: An Introduction to the Psalms A 10-Week Small-Group Bible Study

To enter into the Psalms is to travel into a landscape of amazing variety. From the dry desert of doubt in God's faithfulness and care to creation singing the praises of God, people struggle to make sense of who God is and who they/we are.

No previous Bible study is required. People and questions are welcomed.

We will be using a Disciple curriculum, which uses a DVD and study booklet. There is homework of reading 10-11 psalms a week and writing answers to reflection questions. The group is 1½ hours in length and will begin the week of October 2. The day and time will be announced. Participants will need to purchase the study booklet and have a study Bible.

Register by September 19 by filling out the information below, or contact Leigh Perry at lperry@fpcrichmond.org. Please send her the following information:
