

Nicole Loots - Nicole joined the youth staff late in 2010. In addition to supporting Youth Fellowship each Sunday, she also has served as a small group leader for the CORE 9 high schoolers on Sunday mornings this Fall. Here's some more about Nicole...

1. What are you passionate about?

Where do I begin, as there are so many things that I am passionate about. The first being God and my involvement within FPC, in both the band and the youth. I have a passion for outreach, particularly younger generations, as there is an opportunity to really mold their minds and have an effect on some of their decision making, being able to reach out and touch young lives excites me. I am passionate about working out and living a healthy lifestyle.

2. A few things people should know about you.

I'm from South Africa, I drink A LOT of coffee, I eat a piece of chocolate a day, I love cooking....for other people, I have to have 8 hours of sleep a day in order to function, house work distresses me and I might fall into the category of workaholic.

3. Why do you volunteer with FPC youth?

Being a part of the youth has been such a wonderful learning opportunity for both me and those around me. It has given me the chance to build relationships with the youth on a level that different to a "hi and bye" on a Sunday morning. Being a part of the youth has allowed me the chance to share advice with those in need of it. When God calls you to a ministry, you listen!!

Kim Wright - Kim joined the Youth Staff in October of 2010. She is a faithful Youth Fellowship leader and quite popular for her dog Clarke and unlimited supply of delicious Switch Bev. (She works for Switch!) Here's more from Kim...

1. What are you passionate about?

Dogs - love, love, love being a sports fan, attending college and professional games. I have 3 dogs one of which I have trained to be a therapy dog with Dogs On Call at VCU Medical Center. We visit patients weekly throughout the hospital including Critical Care and Massey Cancer Center.

2. What is something few people know about you?

I worked for an NHL team and 2 NFL teams.

3. Why do you volunteer with the youth of FPC?

I think way back to my youth group days at FPC and have memories of the Watsons, the Overtons, and the Garrisons as my youth group adult advisors. I hope to live up to their awesomeness as leaders and friends.

Kathy Fallen - Kathy is in her third year serving as a Middle School Sunday School leader. She is loved by the youth for her vivacious personality and for the ways she makes each student that walks into the room feel affirmed and comfortable. Here is a little more about Kathy:

1. What is one thing you are passionate about?

I am passionate about my children (Hayes, Hunter, and Ella).

2. What is something that few people know about you?

I don't participate in any sports that involve a ball!

3. Why do you volunteer with the youth of FPC?

I volunteer with the youth because I think it is important to have multi-generational groups involved with the youth of our church. It also provides me with insight into what is in store for me as my children get older!

Scott McCall - Scott joined the volunteer youth staff officially in Fall 2011 as a Youth Fellowship leader, but served as a Confirmation mentor earlier in 2011 as well. His son Jack is an active 9th grader in FPC Youth and daughter Erin Grace will be joining us soon! Here is a little more about Scott:

1. What are you passionate about?

Life, my family, the Gators, tennis, golf, skiing (water and snow), friends, music, hot weather.

2. What is something few people know about you?

I am normally the oldest parent of the youngest kids - I still start on one ski.

3. Why do you volunteer with the youth of FPC?

It's a great chance to help others - as a youth I had enthusiastic leaders in sports and at church - they made a difference - I am hopeful I can help someone in many different ways.

David Gray - A native of Wilkesboro, NC, David received an AB degree in Government/Economics from Columbia University. During the day, he is a Financial Advisor at Scott & Stringfellow. In his spare time, David enjoys golf, Carolina sports, hunting, and traveling. David and his wife Hannah reside in Glen Allen with their yellow lab Harry. Just recently elected as a Deacon, he is in his second year as a Confirmation mentor, and even recruited Hannah to join him this time around. He is also part of the leadership team for CORE 9, our Sunday morning small group for 9th and 10th graders that meets at Can Can. Here is a little more about David...

1. What are you passionate about?

Continually trying to leave things better than I found them.

2. What is something few people know about you?

Few people know that I played football and rugby in college.

3. Why do you volunteer with the youth of FPC?

I volunteer with the youth at FPC because I was very fortunate to have had several very strong mentors as a youth. If I could do a fraction for somebody else what these people did for me it will be a true blessing.
